JUDICIAL RENTS IN IRELAND

In reply to Mr. J.E. ELLIS, COLONEL KING-HARMON said, — The number of applications to fix judicial rents awaiting adjudication in the Land Commission on the 1st of January, 1887, was 10,668. The number of the 1st of February, 1888, was 62,157.

years attending at Shoeburyness was 1,756, and at Barry Links, 1,232.

BURGLARIES

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, — The Press and the public generally
should force our timid, halting officials to take
energetic action against certain forms of crime.
May I suggest that —

1. Any person committing a burglary or robbery from the person, accompanied by violence
or brutality, be flogged.

2. Any burglar or other thief having upon him
a revolver, or other distinctly murderous weapon,
be flogged.

3. The police force be increased, especially mounted patrols in certain localities.

4. Certain constables by armed with revolvers.

5. The police generally have a "freer hand" in dealing with crimes of robbery or violence.

6. More activity among the members of the police force be insisted on by the Chief Commissioner.

7. The public should be officially informed as to the legality, or otherwise, of using firearms in defence of their lives and property.

Experience shows, however, the futility of
expecting the "authorities" ever to take the lead in these matters. They never do anything until forced.

Yours faithfully,

ONE OF THE PUBLIC

IRELAND

Dublin, February 5

At a meeting of the Limerick Board of Guardians yesterday, the solicitor to the board
informed the members that the labourers who had
been granted cottages under the Labourers' Act
refused to pay rent for their holdings, and had entered into a combination with that object in several districts. The collectors were intimating
that if the strike against this payment of rent
collection altogether. The guardians decided on prosecuting the labourers who refused to pay rent,
and to evict the others should they persist in their present course.

LITTLE EGYPT MAKES A HIT

Last night the Tivoli was the scene of a novel divertissement. Little Egypt, that agile and beautiful exponent of the graceful, sensuous
Oriental danse du ventre, entertained all present
with her lithesome, swaying body.

A nimble-fingered pianist who was up in profane music sounded the opening chords of the
wicked dance and, with writhing and twisting body,
Little Egypt stepped out the measure while all the
men looked on with open-mouthed astonishment.
Louder and louder banged the piano, more and
more rapidly the abdominal muscles of the dancer
twitched. Her eyes gleamed with the excitement of it all and her bosom heaved with tantalizing
irregularity. With a crash of chords the dance
ceased and the men were left with silence broken
only by long drawn out sighs from a couple of the gentlemen.

Little Egypt, has come to England by way
of Egypt and Syria. Vague rumours persist that she was deported for illegal political activities in those
countries, but quite a few Englishmen are glad to have her here.

INDIAN MISSION

We understand that the Viceroy of India has

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

Vienna, February 1

Happily, she suffered no injury.

CAPE COLONY

Cape Town, February 5

the month of January amounted in value to £125,000.

PORTUGAL

Lisbon, February 5

Gazete de Portugal states that the projected

To The Editor of The Times:

Sir, — I feel I must write to formally register my outrage at the irresponsible handling by
your paper of my recent discovery. Your reporter's
insinuation that I lack the credentials to unearth
such antiquities is an utter affront. For your information I am a world renowned authority in my field. Your reporter obviously has no appreciation for the significance of such a finding. I demand a retraction, posthaste.

Earl of Downey

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, — Will you allow me to ask a question
of your correspondents who want to disperse the
vicious inhabitants of Flower and Dorset-streets?
There are no lower streets in London, and, if they are driven out of these, where are they to go? The horror and excitement caused by the murder of the White-chapel outcasts imply a universal belief that they had a right to life. If they had, then they had the further right to hire shelter from the bitterness
of the English night. If they had no such right, then it was, on the whole, a good thing that they fell in
with unknown surgical genius. He has made his contribution towards solving the "problem of
clearing the East-End of its vicious inhabitants."
The typical "Annie Chapman" will always find
someone in London town to let her have a "doss"
for a consideration. If she is systematically
"dispersed," two results will follow. She will carry her taint to streets hitherto untainted, and she will be mulcted in larger sums than before for the accommodation. The price of a doss will rise from
8d. to 10d. or a shilling, the extra pennies
representing an insurance fund against prosecution
and disturbance. Are these the sort of results that the Rev. Vincent Shelby is working for?

If vestries seem apathetic in the matter of systematic dispersal, it often is because they know
that the demand for action is merely an astute manoeuvre on the part of a house monger, who is anxious that the property should become
"purchase-able at a fair price."

E.P. Dowd

To The Editor of the Times

Sir, — I should like to write about the decline or morals in the Empire, and the attendant risks. Remember - Rome's moral excesses preceded her fall! Too many of our young people regard the advantages they enjoy as permanent.
They ought to recognize that there are maintenance
fees.

'SOCIETY BURGLAR' STILL AT LARGE

After a month of jewelry burglaries from some of London's most fashionable homes, Scotland Yard reports little progress in the identification and apprehension of the so-called "Society Burglar."

The victim of the latest theft, Lady Leeds, has become so overwrought by the invasion of her bedroom by this unknown man and by the loss of her prized diamond tiara, that she has been hospitalized at the suggestion of her physician.

Although any impetus to attach the increasing problem of crime should be welcomed, it is unfortunate that the impetus comes more strongly when the class of victims is expanded.

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, — Surely it is time that some effectual steps should be taken to curb the ambition of our burglars, be they "Society: or not; and, if necessary, by legislation. Prevention is better than cure, and I agree with those who think that a fox terrier in the house is the best means of giving the alarm. But something more than a dog is required. I would suggest the "cat", besides penal servitude, in all cases of burglary, whether the burglars succeed in carrying away anything or not. The "cat" in the sense in which I refer to it, has been most successful as a deterrent in case of personal robbery with a violence, and other crimes. Why should it not be at once applied to our burglars, whose calling necessarily involves personal violence?

Your obedient servant,
H.T.B.

'SOCIETY BURGLAR' — TAKE CLIMBS TO £14,000

That elusive and so-far successful burglar commonly known as the 'Society Burglar' has gotten away with jewels valued at £14,000 by the seven victims to date. Speculation continues as to the identity of the burglar who seems to be acquainted with the various and sometimes ingenious hiding-places of his victims' jewels. The other striking aspects of the modus operandi are the taking of only one select piece each time and the occurrence of all thefts when the victims are not at home.

OLDENBURG JEWELS STOLEN

Oldenburg, July 2

The jewels of the Duchess of Oldenburg were stolen from the Residenz-Schloss late yesterday afternoon. Sentries guarding the jewels left their posts when smoke began billowing from a small room adjacent to that in which the treasure was kept. The "fire" had apparently been caused by a smoke bomb used by the thief.

The police admit to few other clues, but have closed the borders as a first precautionary step. They have also detained several internationally suspected criminals including Helmut Schnitzler and Thomas O'Neill, but found no evidence to hold them.

THE UNITED STATES

Philadelphia, July 3

The Government of the State of Georgia pursues the system of hiring out the convicts in the penitentiaries for work in coalpits. About 100 thus employed, under a guard, in Dade County, after complaining of ill-treatment, revolted, entrenched themselves in a building, and declined to resume work. Their keeper notified the Governor that they declared they would die before surrendering, and he added that some of them must be killed or all must be starved into subordination. The Governor advised a recourse to the plan of starvation.

The guards accordingly made arrangements yesterday to prevent them from obtaining food or water. The convicts have not yet yielded. Many of them are serving life sentences.

LIONS MURDERED
IN HYDE PARK

Two lions, both male, were found shot to death in Hyde Park in the early hours of this morning. Neither the constable who discovered the macabre sight nor the inspectors of Scotland Yard admit to any clue as to the perpetrator or motive for this bizarre affair.

HOME RULE MEETING
AT KENDAL

A crowded Home Rule meeting was held in St. George's Hall, Kendal, yesterday evening, Mr. T.P. O'Connor, M.P., speaking in support of a resolution expressing unabated confidence in the remedial Irish policy advocated by Mr. Gladstone, said it was a singular fact that the Tories and Liberal Unionists made very much of the charges brought by The Times against the Irish party so long as the latter took no notice of them; but that immediately the party showed the least intention of meeting the charges and putting them to the test of proof, their opponents found, their courage oozing out at their fingers' ends. As soon as the Irish party had an opportunity of proving that the charges were false, the whole tone of the Unionists changed, and they declared that the charges were unimportant. With reference to the cry that Home Rule would lead to separation, he said that the Irish leaders had pledged themselves to a candid, and honest acceptance of Mr. Gladstone's policy, which provided for a subordinate Parliament.

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, — Surely the time has come to grant Home Rule to Ireland — to let the Irish people out from under the heavy paw of the British Lion. After decades of violence we should realize that continued resistance to an idea whose time has come can only result in more violence. Boycotts and assassinations will not cease through an endless progression of Acts of Coercion, Land or Arrears. We can only hope that the Lion will soon release its prey — a prey which would certainly prove more valuable if not completely devoured.

I am, Sir your obedient servant,

Dirken Topper

29, Brook-street, Grosvenor-square.

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, — Having agonized on what it takes to have you print one of my many critical missives, I have changed my tack to say how much I love everything — even The Times.

RECENT EXCAVATIONS IN EGYPT

At the London University College on Wednesday afternoon, before an appreciative audience, Dr. Ebenizer Turnbull delivered a lecture, which dealt with the history of excavations, and the method by which they may most profitably be conducted. Dr. Turnbull and archaeologists James Windibank and Andrew Weatherby are embarking this week on a new Egyptian expedition, excavating Katebet's Tomb at the head of the Valley of the Kings near Karnak and Luxor.

Saturday's lecture was illustrated by photographs thrown on a screen by the electric light which showed vividly and distinctly not only the work done at its various stages, but the modus operandi, the conditions under which work of this character must be carried on, and the instruments necessary for the purpose, and enabled those present to realize that, in classical study as in the sciences, there is an ample field of experiment and discovery open to the individual.

Dr. Turnbull prefaced his lecture by an explanation of the real objects of these excavations. In these days, whatever might have given the first stimulus to such efforts, the primary motive was certainly not to find and keep treasure, any more than it was the aim of the astronomer to possess a star. The modern archaeologist was as little to be confounded with the treasure-seeker as the mineralogist was with the gold miner. His aim must be to restore to life the monuments of bygone times, to bring vividly before us the various phases of ancient societies, whether civilized and uncivilized.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH

Shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning the body of Stephen Lions was found lying in St. Georges-road, Southwark. A short time previously, the deceased, a First Officer for Aberdeen Shipping, was seen being led in the direction where the body was found by two women and a man. The body had been robbed, even to gold earrings which the man had been observed to have been wearing. Two women of ill fame and a man described as a labourer, but known to be the associate of bad characters, have been taken into custody on suspicion of having caused the sailor's death. There were no wounds on the body, and it is supposed that an overdose of some drug had been administered.

MR. GLADSTONE

Mr. Gladstone has sent the following reply to the address in favour of the Home Rule presented to him and signed by clergymen of the Church of England:

"7 James-street, SW, Aug. 14

"My dear Mr. Dean, I have had the honour to receive the letter addressed to me by a body of more than 250 clergymen of the Church of England, who in it have strongly expressed their approval of the policy of Home Rule for Ireland.

"I rejoice to perceive in this list so many names, besides your own, distinguished for sound judgement and wide practical experience, for learning and ability, for self-denying and devoted service.

"Other names are known to me of distinguished men who, without concurring in every phase of this letter, agree heartily in its cardinal proposition, or who, having no scruple as to any of its expressions, have shrunk from exposing themselves and their families, or the work they have in hand, to the consequences known to me in more than one painful instance.

"I entertain a lively hope that reflection and further information as to many odious proceedings now carried on in Ireland and thinly covered (as has for centuries been the estimated practice) by the desecrated names of law and order will greatly widen among the estimated clergy that which they have already so much widened among our countrymen at large the conviction that no honour and no advantage can be gained by a continued refusal to accede to the moderate and constitutionally expressed demands of the Irish people.

"I remain, with much regard,

"faithfully yours.

"W.E. GLADSTONE

"Very Rev. the Dean of Winchester."

The jury returned a verdict of "Wilful murder" against Rowe.

ARCHAEOLOGIST DEAD IN MUMMY'S TOMB

Karnak, March 4

Professor Ebenizer Turnbull, organizer of the Katebet Tomb expedition, was found dead in the tomb early this morning. The inner chamber was reached early in the year after much difficult labour, and the archaeologists were quite ecstatic over the excellent condition of the sarcophagus, chamber artifacts and the Katebet Mummy itself. The party was in the final weeks of its work in the area when disaster struck.

Mr. Turnbull had worked late into the night, remaining in the chamber alone after other members of the party had retired for the night. His body was discovered by Mr. Andrew Weatherby, another of the project archaeologists. Mr. Turnbull had been strangled to death. Ancient linen bandages were found around his neck.

Upon hearing of the Professor's death, several of the natives working on the excavation called upon Isis and Osiris for protection and for forgiveness for disturbing the sacred tomb. Inscriptions found on the canopic jars and doors indicate that this death may be the mysterious work of the ancient god Tuamautef and his goddess, Neith.

DISASTER AT SEA

Our Philadelphia Correspondent telegraphs: —A Gloucester, Massachusetts despatch brings a terrible tale of the sea, told by Captain Ryan, of the schooner S.D. Story. He arrived yesterday from Iceland, having sailed on Oct. 19. Off the south coast of Iceland he reports that a large fleet of French fishing vessels had gathered to fish, when a heavy gale came on causing great destruction among the fleet, and scattering it in all directions. Six vessels were lost with their crews. One had her deck swept, losing her captain and 11 men, another her captain and three men, and a third her captain and two men. The total loss, as far as ascertained, is 137 men. Many of the vessels were so badly damaged that they had to be abandoned, causing 300 men to be left in Iceland in a destitute condition until a steamer arrived to carry them away. The supply of food was limited. There were few natives living there, and the men endured great hardships.

MAN FOUND DEAD AT THEATRE

An usher at the Elephant & Castle discovered the body of a man apparently murdered during last night's performance. The body was found after the entertainment in the box which, according to the usher, the man had occupied alone. The police had not been able to identify the man whom they describe as in his mid-thirties, approximately 5 feet 7 inches in height, slight, with red hair. He had apparently been stabbed to death. Anyone who might know anything about this man or the murder is urged to notify Scotland Yard.

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, — As my late husband was a well-known and respected journalist, I now turn to you in the hope that some action might be taken in the case of his terrible death.

Perhaps I should refresh your memory and that of your readers with the facts of this bizarre death. The police records are bare indeed, and report little more than that Isadora Persano was found "stark staring mad" with a matchbox in front of him which contained a remarkable worm, unknown to science. He survived only a few days in that state of madness before succumbing to a mercifully quick death.

When police failed to make any progress in the case, I sought help elsewhere with equally disappointing results.

But now I have discovered new information pointing to the guilt of a Mr. James Phillimore who disappeared "without a trace" the same day my husband was fiendishly driven mad. The police treat me with the condescension they reserve for hysterical widows, so I am now turning to you and the public for support in the pursuit and prosecution of Mr. Phillimore, who I believe to have left England aboard the cutter Alicia.

Your obedient and hopeful servant,
Mrs. I. Persano

Monsignor Agliardi will leave for Peking in the course of next month, representations having been made by the Chinese Government that the departure of the Internuncio should be expedited as much as possible.

It is known at the Vatican that the French assumption of a protectorate over the Catholic missions in China and the native Christians depending on them has produced a feeling of strong dissatisfaction among the Chinese official class, and that apprehension is felt at Peking that unless the Internuncio arrive shortly in order to terminate the present unsatisfactory state of things serious disorders may result.

MUMMY STRIKES AGAIN

The body of James Windibank was discovered late yesterday in the room he was preparing for the British Museum's exhibit of newly discovered artifacts from the tomb of Katebet's Mummy. The archaeologist was found strangled. Around his neck were linen bandages of the type used by the ancient Egyptians in wrapping mummies.

Windibank's is the third murder to be associated with the Mummy Katebet in the past six weeks. The archaeologist had accompanied the London University-sponsored expedition to Egypt.

The project has been cursed with ill luck since the first discovery of the tomb several months ago. Its organizer, Dr. Ebenizer Turnbull, was murdered in the actual tomb itself in early March. Another archaeologist, Andrew Weatherby, met a similar fate on board the ship returning to England just last week. The Jardine ship Eastern Empress was the scene of that mysterious death. The shipboard investigation was handled by Captain Herman Ramsey and his first officer, Luther Tenney.

Scotland Yard has declined to name any suspects at this time.

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, With regard to the recent Mummy Murders, I would like to suggest that we abandon our attempts to disturb the ancients, in their graves or otherwise. This applies not only to such excavations as have become so common in Egypt, Morocco and other foreign lands, but also to such projects in our own British Isles. If the hypotheses of such men as James Fergusson, who believes that Stonehenge is an ancient sepulchral monument of the Saxon Druids, are true, we should leave these burial grounds undisturbed.

Surely if these murders are the work of some present-day mortal human, the police will discover his identity and bring him to justice. I do sincerely believe, however, we should not meddle in the magic and sorcery of which we know naught, for we have not the means to control the forces thus unleashed.

Respectfully yours, J.A. Smutts

London April 9

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, The recent Mummy affair points up to a fact I have been trying to convince my fellow Britishers of for quite some time; that is the phenomenal number of crimes, particularly those of a serious nature committed by foreigners. Shouldn't we act now to restrict access to our beloved isle before this tragedy becomes yet worse?

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, — As a man of science and medicine, I must protest these innuendos of murderous mummies. The ancient Egyptians had progressed far in their own investigations of life and science, but they had certainly not found the secret of everlasting life in the material world. Even had they, we cannot bring home the murder of two men to a 4000-year-old mummy. I can only repeat that this is utter nonsense and balderdash, without the slightest scientific basis, and a disgrace to the pages of your venerable newspaper.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

John H. Watson, M.D.

EXHIBITION OF SEWING MACHINES AND DOMESTIC APPLIANCES

At the Royal Agricultural Hall, Islington, on Saturday afternoon, an exhibition full of promise and interest to all sections of the public was opened. It was termed "The Second Annual International Sewing Machines and Domestic Appliances Exhibition." The exhibit includes a lockstitch shuttleless machine which will do one mile of lockstitch sewing, a novelty in hairpins, which twist into the hair like a corkscrew; a machine for which it is claimed that a girl can make 4,000 to 5,000 button-holes a day; automatic musical instruments; the new honeycomb wine-bin tubes, which appear to be of much utility in the cellar, and very compact fire-escapes, which can be utilized for ordinary use as chairs and chests of drawers. The exhibition will be open for a fortnight.

COUNCIL HEARS
DEDICATION PLANS

Last night's London County Council meeting was highlighted by a presentation delivered by Cedrick Livingston. In discussing plans for next month's dedication ceremonies at the opening of the dockside development which Livingston called "the culmination of a 10-year dream," the sailor-turned-builder recounted several deaths of his rags-to-riches life story.

During an 1858 voyage of the Glenda, Livingston, then first mate, had brought the ship and its cargo of silk and tea back to England after losing the Captain and many crew members.
When the shipowners presented him with the Captain's share, Livingston turned his efforts to projects ashore. In the past 30 years he has helped build some of the most modern and successful commercial developments in London and its environs.

Mr. Livingston also announced that Mr.
Albert Gilbert's last sculptural effort will be unveiled at the ceremony May 13.

QUEEN ANNE STATUE

Yesterday afternoon the Lord Mayor (Sir Reginald Hanson) unveiled the new statue of Queen Anne in front of St. Paul's Cathedral. The monument, made of Sicilian marble, is a replica of that erected in 1712 by Francis Bird, an eminent sculptor, to commemorate the completion of the cathedral. It had in recent years become dilapidated.

MURDER
IN BLOOMSBURY

A murder was committed in Bloomsbury
last night. Shortly after 10 p.m. Constable Lane, summoned by cries for help, entered the home at 42 Tottenham Court-road of Mr. Oswald Mason, Chief Accountant of the Bank of England, and found the body in his study where he had apparently been murdered by a blow to the head.
Mr. Mason's body was discovered by his wife upon her return to their home around 10 p.m. The police report only that the intruder apparently entered by an upstairs window, and, judging by the disarray of the study, a struggle occurred in which Mr. Mason met his death. As of this time the crime has not been brought home to any person,
but the best detectives of Scotland Yard are now involved in the investigation and search for the perpetrator of this bloody crime. Mr. Mason is survived by his wife, Rose, and a brother, Cecil.

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, — Paying my daily visit to my church
this afternoon, I was surprised to find the caretaker
in a semi-stupified state.

Asking her what was the matter, she told me that a man had just entered the church, and finding her all alone inquired whether I was in the vestry. On receiving a reply in the negative he said, "I see you are alone," and immediately took out a pocket-handkerchief and dashed it in her face. The strong smell of whatever liquid it had been steeped in dazed and stupefied her, and she for a moment or two lost her consciousness. The noise of some of the workmen on the roof seemed to have alarmed this scoundrel, and he bolted out of the church.

This incident, Sir, perhaps might afford a clue. At any rate, it will warn solitary women who are in charge of churches.

I am your obedient servant.

DROWNED. — On Wednesday evening

THE LOSS OF THE GLENMORE

A telegram from Lloyd's agent at Buenos Aires states that the names of the saved of the British barque Glenmore, which was wrecked near Cape Horn, are — Laurence, West, Morgan, Shephard, Webster, and Brice. Nothing is known as to the fate of the remainder.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT
April 10 (Before Mr. Justice DENMAN)

HARRY ATKINSON, 21, tanner, was indicted for wounding Lucretia Prim, with intent to murder.

Mr. Mead and Mr. Wilfrid Roberts prosecuted; Mr. Faversham, at the request of Mr.
Justice Buchanan, appeared for the defence.

The prosecutrix, a girl of 15, was employed as a waitress at a coffee-shop in Bermondsey, at which the prisoner was a customer.
On the day in question the prisoner entered the shop and asked the prosecutrix for a cup of tea.
The prosecutrix served him one, and asked him whether he would have some bread and butter, but he answered in the negative. The prosecutrix was walking out of the shop, when the prisoner, having locked the doors, caught hold of her and cut her throat with a penknife, inflicting a serious wound, after which he left the house. The prosecutrix was taken to the hospital, where her wound was attended to.

MR. FAVERSHAM, addressing the jury for the defence, submitted that the prisoner was of unsound mind at the time, and not responsible for his actions.

Evidence was given showing that the prisoner had suffered from epileptic fits, was of morose and sullen temperament and had received injuries to the head.

Dr. Gilbert, surgeon at Holloway Gaol, said the prisoner was of very weak intellect and almost an imbecile, but he knew what he was doing.

The jury, after a considerable absence from Court, found the prisoner Guilty on the second count of wounding with the intent to do grievous bodily harm and added that they were of opinion that he was of weak mind, but not irresponsible for
his actions.

MR. JUSTICE BUCHANAN said the case was a very shocking one, and he sentenced the prisoner to seven years' penal servitude.

ANARCHIST FOUND DEAD IN ROOMS

A man identified as Nickolai Gorski was found shot to death in his room near Aldgate Station. Gorski, a Russian exile, was known to be involved in exile political activities. Police attribute his murder to those warring Russian factions. Parliament has asked the Home Secretary to bring pressure to bear upon foreign governments to end their use of British soil as a battleground for foreign internal strife.

A similar request last year fell on deaf ears, but it is hoped that recent events will change
that circumstance.

MR. WHITNEY CARTWRIGHT

We are glad to be able to state that Mr.
Whitney Cartwright's health has steadily improved during the past week. He will probably be able to

FOREIGN AND
COLONIAL NEWS

We have received the following telegrams through the Reuters' Agency: —

LABOUR AGITATION IN SPAIN

Valencia, June 7

The Civil Guard have to-day been again called upon to disperse groups of strikers assembled in the streets. Many arrests have been made.

THE UNITED STATES

Washington, June 3

Orders have been issued to hasten the work of preparing three warships. Two of three are to be equipped at Marc Island and the other at New York. It is reported that the vessels will be despatched either to Samoa or to the Isthmus of Panama.

New York, June 3

In his decision yesterday against the North River Sugar Refining Company for entering a trust, the Judge of the Supreme Court declared that the trust was illegal.

PANIC AT THE THEATRE FRANCAIS

Paris, June 3

The performance at the Theatre Francais this evening was disturbed by an occurrence which resulted in panic. Shortly after 10 o'clock the electric wires supplying the chandeliers came in contact in consequence of the wearing away of the envelope. The light was consequently extinguished, and several sparks fell among the audience. A panic ensued in spite of the efforts of the actors to reassure the public. The fireman on duty at the theatre immediately communicated with the headquarters of the brigade, and a steam fire engine was despatched to the spot. The incident caused great excitement in the neighbourhood of the theatre.

DISTURBANCE AT THE RUSSIAN
SOCIAL CLUB

A scuffle broke out last night at a lecture on women's rights and birth control at the Russian Immigrants Social Club, 7, High-street, SE. The featured speaker was Sophie Botkin, wife of Vladimir Botkin, the exiled Russian anarchist. According to the president of the club, Jacob Epstein, the disturbance occurred during the reception which followed the lecture and which was attended by close to one hundred women. One of the women apparently became outraged and had to be escorted from the building.

ANOTHER BODY FLOATING IN THAMES

Shortly after 11 o'clock last night another body was found floating near the Southwark Bridge. The deceased, a man in his middle thirties, has been identified by the seaman's papers found on his person as Leo Shephard. Shephard had apparently been shot. This is the fourth victim found murdered in the vicinity in the past five days.

The inhabitants of Southwark are becoming increasingly anxious as to the discovery and apprehension of the perpetrator or perpetrators of these crimes. Although at least one of the victims was known to be of bad character and to associate with others of similar character, the 1st of victims includes a barrister and a senior clerk from the firm of Lindsay and Co. The police are much attacked as a consequence of their not having any suspects at this time.

NEW SCOTLAND YARD

Ironical questions have been asked in the House of Commons with regard to the architectural aspect of the building which is destined to go by the name of New Scotland Yard. They are obviously intended to be the prelude of sharp criticism, and in order that the criticism may be appreciated, that its justice or injustice, as the case may be, may be followed, it will be no bad thing to enquire into the nature of the structure which is to become a substitute for the miscellaneous collection of buildings in which, for some time, the central business of the metropolitan police has been conducted. Nor will any criticism be fair which does not take into account the capacities of the site and the complex character of the business which has to be conducted in Scotland Yard.

For all practical purposes New Scotland Yard is an unqualified success, and it has potentialities, such as a spacious and fairly lighted crypt, in which men may be kept in reserve in the event of an unexpected riot, of which space does not permit the enumeration.

PRESIDENT CARNOT

Paris, June 3

President Carnot gave a grand diplomatic banquet this evening. The guests included all the foreign Ambassadors. Earl and Countess of Lytton and their daughter were present.

NEW MAGAZINE — Truth and Lies, a new bi-monthly journal dedicated to what its editorial board call 'free-thinking' sent its inaugural issue off the press to-day. A confiscation was ordered by the Lord Mayor.

MILITARY INTELLIGENCE

In order to remedy the lack of musketry knowledge in the Militia, it has been decided at the War Office that during the next training season several of the battalions shall be encamped at the Government ranges at Stensall-common, so that target practice might be satisfactorily carried out.

THE TIMES may be PURCHASED, in Paris, at 8, Rue des Capucines; in Boulogne-sur-Mer, at Merridew's Library; in Brussels, at 46, Rue de la Medeleine; and in Rome, at 1, Piazza de Spagna.

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, — With regard to the suggestion that bloodhounds might assist in tracking the Thames murderer, as a breeder of dogs, and knowing their power, I have little doubt that had a hound been put upon the scent of the murderer while fresh, at least in those cases where the body was not actually floating in the water, it might have done what the police have failed in. I have made some experiments in this area myself, but Scotland Yard does not appear interested in my results. But now, when all trace of the scent has been trodden out, it would be quite useless.

Meanwhile, as no means of detection should be left untried, it would be well if a couple or so of trained bloodhounds — unless trained they are worthless — were kept for a time at one of the police head-quarters ready for immediate use in the case their services should be called for. There are, doubtless, owners of bloodhounds willing to lend them, if any of the police, which, I fear, is improbable, know how to use them.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
ELTON SHERMAN

The cathedral organ at Gloucester, having been rebuilt, was used yesterday. The old organ was built by Charles and Bernatus Harris in 1666. Many old pipes, which are exquisitely ornamented, have been incorporated in the new instrument, and the handsome oak case remains unaltered.

THAMES INVESTIGATION CONTINUES

The investigation continues into the series of murders which have been plaguing the Bankside, Southwark area during the past several nights.

Sunday's murder, the third in this recent outburst of violence, came as a shock to the community. Mr. Charles Attard, a well-known London barrister, was found behind a waterfront warehouse in Upper Ground-street brutally murdered. He had been shot twice with a large caliber gun. The absence of Attard's wallet points to a possible motive of robbery, but the police have given little additional information to the press.

THE COAL STRIKE IN AUSTRALIA

Sydney, June 9

The state of affairs in the Newcastle colliery district is beginning to look more hopeful. In some collieries, which are outside those owned by the Associated Coal Mine proprietors, the men have accepted the masters' terms, and two of the Associated collieries are employing non-unionized men, who are protected by military and police. The district is tranquil, and the negotiations between the masters and miners on strike continue.

THE TOURNAI TREASURY CASE

Brussels, June 9

Canon Bernard has appealed to the Court of Cassation against the decision condemning him to three years' imprisonment for breach of trust, and in the meantime has taken refuge in France.

The 5,000,000f., which constituted the diocesan treasury of Tournai, are deposited in the National Bank. Many persons, the heirs of those who have intrusted or bequeathed money to the treasury, have notified their claims to the National Bank. The diocesan authorities, however, not being recognized as a legal corporation, the treasury is, in fact, without a proprietor, and should revert to the State.

International attention has focused on the incident because its extreme nature could set a precedent for other, less extreme instances. Many church leaders in England have expressed sympathy for the Canon.

THE RECREATIVE EVENING SCHOOLS ASSOCIATION

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, — Will you allow us, through your columns to appeal to the public for assistance in the volunteer work of this association? We hope next winter session to introduce our recreative and practical classes into some 100 Board and Voluntary Schools in the metropolis, and for those we shall require 1,000 teachers. The experience of the past winter has justified our expectations of the success of the recreative method, and proved that beyond comparatively slight expenditure we need nothing but volunteers. The subjects are simple, especially these which will require the largest number of teachers. Thus, musical drill and the use of the magic lanterns can be learned in a very few lessons; singing, drawing, and sewing of an elementary nature can be taught by any valuable aid of the Home Arts Association we are able to provide professional teachers for those who are willing to help in our classes for modeling, woodcarving, and design. The time we ask for will not exceed one hour a week for each person; and we therefore trust that many will be able to help, the work being found by experience to be very interesting and agreeable and the time of attendance short.

Any one who is willing to assist by gift of time or money is requested to communicate immediately with the secretary, 2, Swinton-street, WC, as it is desired to organize classes of volunteers at once.

On behalf of the association, we are, yours, &c.

THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON'S BIRTHPLACE

To the Editor of the Times
Sir, — I have to-day deposited at the Military Exhibition at Chelsea a most valuable piece of evidence as to the birthplace of the great Duke of Wellington — his census paper of 1851, the first line written by his own hand. In it he states he was born in Ireland, he believes at Athy. This document was given to me and my sister as a great treasure by our friend Major G. Graham, the late Registrar-General.

I trust that it will end all controversy on this matter.

Faithfully yours,
C.G. PALMER

DISASTERS AT SEA

A Reuters' telegram from Dunkirk says that the British steamer Talisma, bound from Leith, took the ground on Saturday night in the outer harbor, after colliding with the jetty. She has a breach in her bows, but was being lightened and would possibly be able to dock shortly.

Captain Lambert and eight of the crew of the steamer Emma were landed at Southampton yesterday from St. Malo. The Emma left Sunderland for Bordeaux on Monday last with coal, and on Sunday night struck a rock off Ushant, sinking four minutes after. All on board were saved in an open boat and landed at Brest and next morning.

BURGLARIES

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, — The Press and the public generally
should force our timid, halting officials to take
energetic action against certain forms of crime.
May I suggest that —

1. Any person committing a burglary or
robbery from the person, accompanied by violence
or brutality, be flogged.

2. Any burglar or other thief having upon him
a revolver, or other distinctly murderous weapon,
be flogged.

3. The police force be increased, especially mounted patrols in certain localities.

4. Certain constables by armed with
revolvers.

5. The police generally have a "freer hand" in dealing with crimes of robbery or violence.

6. More activity among the members of the police force be insisted on by the Chief Commissioner.

7. The public should be officially informed as to the legality, or otherwise, of using firearms in
defence of their lives and property.

Experience shows, however, the futility of
expecting the "authorities" ever to take the lead in
these matters. They never do anything until forced.

Yours faithfully,

IRELAND

Dublin, February 5

At a meeting of the Limerick Board of
Guardians yesterday, the solicitor to the board
informed the members that the labourers who had
been granted cottages under the Labourers' Act
refused to pay rent for their holdings, and had entered into a combination with that object in
several districts. The collectors were intimating
that if the strike against this payment of rent
collection altogether. The guardians decided on
prosecuting the labourers who refused to pay rent,
and to evict the others should they persist in their
present course.

LITTLE EGYPT MAKES A HIT

Last night the Tivoli was the scene of a novel divertissement. Little Egypt, that agile and
beautiful exponent of the graceful, sensuous
Oriental danse du ventre, entertained all present
with her lithesome, swaying body.

A nimble-fingered pianist who was up in
profane music sounded the opening chords of the
wicked dance and, with writhing and twisting body,
Little Egypt stepped out the measure while all the
men looked on with open-mouthed astonishment.
Louder and louder banged the piano, more and
more rapidly the abdominal muscles of the dancer
twitched. Her eyes gleamed with the excitement of
it all and her bosom heaved with tantalizing
irregularity. With a crash of chords the dance
ceased and the men were left with silence broken
only by long drawn out sighs from a couple of the gentlemen.

Little Egypt, has come to England by way
of Egypt and Syria. Vague rumours persist that she was deported for illegal political activities in those
countries, but quite a few Englishmen are glad to
have her here.

To The Editor of The Times:

Sir, — I feel I must write to formally
register my outrage at the irresponsible handling by
your paper of my recent discovery. Your reporter's
insinuation that I lack the credentials to unearth
such antiquities is an utter affront. For your information I am a world renowned authority in my
field. Your reporter obviously has no appreciation
for the significance of such a finding. I demand a retraction, posthaste.

Earl of Downey

To the Editor of the Times

Sir, — Will you allow me to ask a question
of your correspondents who want to disperse the
vicious inhabitants of Flower and Dorset-streets?
There are no lower streets in London, and, if they are driven out of these, where are they to go? The horror and excitement caused by the murder of the White-chapel outcasts imply a universal belief that they had a right to life. If they had, then they had
the further right to hire shelter from the bitterness
of the English night. If they had no such right, then it was, on the whole, a good thing that they fell in
with unknown surgical genius. He has made his contribution towards solving the "problem of
clearing the East-End of its vicious inhabitants."
The typical "Annie Chapman" will always find
someone in London town to let her have a "doss"
for a consideration. If she is systematically
"dispersed," two results will follow. She will carry
her taint to streets hitherto untainted, and she will
be mulcted in larger sums than before for the accommodation. The price of a doss will rise from
8d. to 10d. or a shilling, the extra pennies
representing an insurance fund against prosecution
and disturbance. Are these the sort of results that
the Rev. Vincent Shelby is working for?

If vestries seem apathetic in the matter of
systematic dispersal, it often is because they know
that the demand for action is merely an astute
manoeuvre on the part of a house monger, who is
anxious that the property should become
"purchase-able at a fair price."

To The Editor of the Times

Sir, — I should like to write about the

They ought to recognize that there are maintenance
fees.
